

CHEYENNE

By KATIA

The Cheyenne lived close to the Mississippi River. They ate buffalo, deer, and elk. They wore deer and buffalo skin. They had secret medicine ceremony, sun dance, medicine renewal, and honored nature. They lived in wigwams and tepees. Now the Cheyenne tribe lives in Oklahoma. For the winter, they dried leftover buffalo meat. Some weapons they used were spears, bow and arrows. General George Custer paid people to kill Indians and bring back their scalps. The Europeans traded the Cheyenne tribe guns for buffalo meat and bones.