

Sample Concluding Paragraph for Response to Literature Essay

Sample One

Introduction:

Which is more valuable---financial success or kindness? The play A Christmas Carol, adapted by Israel Horowitz from Charles Dickens' novel, answers this question. It tells the story of Scrooge, a greedy, grumpy old man. In the play, Scrooge is visited by three ghosts who change him from being a cold-hearted miser into a kind, generous person. A Christmas Carol illustrates that financial success cannot buy happiness, but kindness can.

- 1. Attention-getter:

- 4. Thesis:
A Christmas Carol illustrates that financial success cannot buy happiness, but kindness can.

Conclusion:

A Christmas Carol has remained popular for over 150 years because it addresses a basic question with which many people still struggle---the relative value of financial success and kindness. The play answers this question by showing that financial success offers no guarantee of happiness and love, but kindness brings many rewards. If society today would take this lesson seriously, all would benefit

Sample Two

Introduction:

Many people spend their entire lives searching for the key to a meaningful life. In A Christmas Carol, written by Charles Dickens and adapted by Israel Horowitz, a greedy old miser named Scrooge endures such a search for meaning and ultimately finds the treasure of life. He needs the help of three spirits, who appear during the night on Christmas Eve, to help him see how his inconsiderate and greedy actions affect others and leave him alone. As a result of this experience, he changes from his selfish ways and allows himself to branch out, becoming more friendly, generous, and content in the process. A Christmas Carol illustrates that people can be happy without money or success, as pure happiness originates from thoughtfulness and generosity.

1. Attention-getter:
