What Does Inclusivity Look Like at Mesa?

“You don’t know, but when you’re a new mom and don’t have a clue your son will have Down Syndrome, you only hope and pray kids will be nice to him and not hurt him. Your biggest worry is that your kid won’t have friends, etc. If I only knew how it would be, my mama heart would be so much better back then. XXXOO”

- Jennifer Guidi, Tristen’s mom
