

Student Extra Help Options

Parents, there are many students who believe they are simply “bad” at math. Their perception is their reality. Numerous studies have proven most students can excel mathematically IF they put in more quality repetition and review. Otherwise, learning and forgetting will occur. We are here to instill lifelong learners! The below options are necessary especially when students miss class and/or need more review due to their inherent strengths and areas of improvement mathematically.

Mr. Nguyen’s Office hours – Every day I am here at 6:45am to provide students with extra help. I will also be available Monday and Wednesday from 230pm-3:15pm if given notice. If a student needs more help due to an absence, I can get here even at 6am if provided proper notice. Please keep in mind, ONE absence results in at least 1 hour of missed lecture time. Students who transfer from another class especially need to get caught up. Students who struggle with math should come continually. Last minute review can only do so much. Quality repetition and critical thinking is our goal.

After School Tutoring- Date/Time: Monday thru Thursday from 2:30-3:30pm in room EE15. Exemplary VMHS students from the nationwide National Honor Society are here to assist all students in all topics. Most students have over a 4.0 GPA and are trained to be great tutors.

Khan Academy - Khan Academy (<https://www.khanacademy.org>) is a non-profit educational organization created in 2006 by educator Sal Khan with the aim of providing a "free, world-class education for anyone, anywhere. Sal Khan graduated from MIT and Harvard. He decided he wanted to make a genuine difference for those students who could not afford to pay for tutors. Big companies like Microsoft heard about his mission and decided to assist him on his mission! The organization produces short lectures in the form of You Tube videos. In addition to micro lectures, the organization's website features practice exercises and tools for educators. All resources are available for free to anyone around the world. The main language of the website is English, but the content is also available in other languages.

I, VMHS parent/guardian have reviewed all the review options.
